LEADERSHIP

In any project you begin, it is best to begin with setting goals for yourself. What do you want to accomplish? How will you go about making these plans happen? What do you consider a success in your goals?

Before beginning this project, it is best that you sit down each year with your club administrative leader and/or project leader and discuss how you can show leadership involvement in your club, project or activity setting. They can also discuss with you areas that are in need of leadership as well as opportunities that they might see for you to provide leadership. Then complete the following section for each year that you participate in this project. Each year will build on the previous years formation. PLEASE - pictures tell a thousand words. Feel free to include them.
